Hong Kong Art Week returns in November with theme – ARTROPOLIS
Celebrating a city dedicated to the latest in contemporary culture

(Hong Kong, 3 October 2017) For the fifth year in a row, Hong Kong Art Week (#hkartweek) is poised to take over our metropolis from 15 - 26 November, celebrating the roles artists, galleries and the art community play in enriching our lives and making Hong Kong the vibrant global art hub it is today.

Organised by the Hong Kong Art Gallery Association and supported by more than 50 member galleries, Hong Kong Art Week will feature an exciting line up of cultural activities. Highlights include:

- The Gallery Walk for Charity (#TheGalleryWalk) - Art lovers can hop through more than 30 galleries and art spaces in Central, Sheung Wan and Sai Ying Pun on 21 November, enjoy live performances and taste a great array of wines and refreshments.

- Art Car (#ArtCar) - A Super Formula SF13 race car with its body design completely reimagined by French photographer Cyril Delettre will be on display at the Four Seasons Hotel Hong Kong daily from 15 - 21 November.

- Art Day at South Island (#ArtDay #SouthIsland) - Spend a day in South Island and soak up the thriving art community in Wong Chuk Hang, Ap Lei Chau and Tin Wan on 25 November, with open studios, artist-led workshops, talks and new exhibitions.

- Art Symposium (#ArtSymposium) - A fascinating series of talks, on 17 and 18 November, on the topic Asia: New Frontiers in the Art World, aimed at offering new opportunities and observation to members of Hong Kong’s art community.

More information to be released soon. Stay tuned for further updates on activities and programme during Hong Kong Art Week.
